

The Writing Lab promotes fluency in writing while simultaneously developing students abilities in all phases of the writing process. The laboratory setting creates a risk-free learning environment where students develop and hone their writing skills. Lessons include instructions and examples, partner writing, and individual writing exercises. This book includes lessons on fluency, clarity, sentence construction, revision, paragraph organization, descriptive writing, and persuasive writing. The lessons give students a great deal of writing practice while keeping teacher preparation to a minimum and without generating additional paperwork for the busy teacher. This extensive text gives you tried-and-true techniques for improving student writing. Teachers who use this guidebook find significant student improvement in several areas. Students become more fluent writers, develop and support their ideas more effectively, include more elaboration in their language arts and social studies assignments, demonstrate greater ability to vary their writing, and benefit from consistent practice in the revision stage of the writing process. For younger students it is more effective to use Beginning Writing Lab. Grades 4-7
